NORDIKA

Private Equity Investment Internship

Nordika is looking for an investment intern for a six to twelve-month period to join our Stockholm office, starting in spring or after the summer, with flexibility depending on the right candidate. If possible, we welcome candidates who can start immediately.

About Nordika

Nordika is an award-winning Nordic private equity firm with offices in Stockholm and Helsinki, focusing on real estate and real estate-related investments.

Since its inception, Nordika has built a strong track record and demonstrated a proven ability to navigate challenging market conditions. Nordika is a disciplined and flexible investor, focused on special situations as well as opportunistic and value-add investments across the Nordics, including direct real estate equity, recapitalisations, hybrid capital, and real estate platforms across all real estate segments.

About the Internship

This internship offers hands-on experience across the full investment process. You will work closely with senior professionals and take ownership of defined workstreams with clear deliverables, including:

- Analysing investment opportunities across various real estate segments and structures
- Building and reviewing financial models and valuation analyses to support investment decisions
- Supporting deal sourcing, market research, and investment underwriting
- Assisting in due diligence, transaction execution and financing discussions
- Supporting portfolio work, including analysis and follow-up on existing investments

The internship is based at Nordika's Stockholm office (in-person), as we believe close collaboration is key to a strong learning experience.

We are targeting a full-time internship, but the arrangement can be adjusted depending on the candidate. Candidates who can commit more hours and start quickly will be prioritised in the recruitment process.

Who You Are

We are looking for a motivated and structured individual with a strong interest in real estate investments and private equity. You likely have:

- Studies in finance, economics, real estate, engineering, or a related field (final stages of a bachelor's or currently pursuing a master's)
- Strong analytical skills and experience with financial modelling
- Proficiency in Microsoft Excel and PowerPoint
- High attention to detail and the ability to deliver in a fast-paced environment
- Fluency in English and Swedish

How To Apply

To apply, please email:

- CV
- Academic transcripts

In your email, please specify:

- Your preferred start date / availability (including if you can start immediately)
- How many hours per week you can work (full-time or part-time)

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis.

Send your application to job@nordika.se.

If you have any questions about the position, feel free to contact us at the same email address.